

Ofcom application form OfW512

Application to permit an existing licensee to undertake spectrum leasing

For applying for a variation to a Wireless Telegraphy Act licence to allow the holder to lease spectrum in accordance with section 30 of, and schedule 1 to, the Wireless Telegraphy Act 2006 as amended

General guidelines on Ofcom's policies and procedures relating to spectrum leasing can be found in the document Trading Guidance (OfW513).

This form is to be used to apply for a licence variation that will enable you to undertake spectrum leasing. Leasing is a form of trading in which you, as the licence-holder, let someone else exercise your licence rights to use the spectrum subject to the terms and conditions of your licence and any additional restrictions that you impose in the lease contract. The leaseholder will not hold a licence from us but will be allowed to access the spectrum by virtue of the lease contract. There is another form of spectrum trading (known as 'transfer') in which the person acquiring the rights receives a separate licence from us. If you wish to undertake a transfer, please use form OfW 206 or OfW437. For further information about leasing and transfer, see OfW513

Applications cannot be progressed unless the form is signed by someone who is authorised by the licence-holder to act on its behalf.

Print clearly. Illegible, unclear or incomplete application forms may delay processing.
